

is not wide open as was the previous proposal. It is a mechanism, financial mechanism that the state does not authorize so there is no arguments in terms of parameters. There is no arguments in terms of what definitions will be, et cetera, et cetera. It is simply just the authorization of the constitutional amendment in very narrow terms, in terms of who can apply it, and those applications have been limited. They have been limited in these ways and not allow pursuant to many people what had requested, did not allow villages to use this sort of IDA bond authorization which on the other hand is no great loss because they would not probably finance something because of the size of financial issues you have to have. It also precludes the counties so that you will not find counties making areas outside considered blighted. So it is a very tight, very pure authorization of an already accepted constitutional amendment that the people voted on last fall. I urge the advancement of LB 451.
